Hiring Manager
Weights & Biases
San Francisco, CA

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to express my interest in the AI Engineer position at Weights & Biases. I am drawn to your company because I have always liked the idea of working in a tech environment, although I admit that I have never directly worked in AI or machine learning.

I have a high school diploma, and my experience mainly revolves around roles in retail and customer service. My primary skills include organizing merchandise on shelves and assisting customers. During my time at my previous job, I received positive feedback on my ability to maintain a clean workspace and my punctuality. I have also been appreciated for my ability to work in teams, although I don't have experience in a tech or engineering-related setting. Most of my achievements have been related to increasing sales through promotional displays, which I believe is relevant in some vague way to business outcomes.

While I understand that this role requires significant experience in Python, JavaScript, and cloud environments - which I do not possess - I am eager to learn about GenAI technology. My knowledge of computer applications is basic, and I am generally familiar with the use of a smartphone and social media platforms. However, I do not have experience in deploying AI solutions or working with large-scale enterprise clients.

My career aspirations have always been general, and I look forward to exploring various opportunities in the tech field without any specific direction. I would appreciate the chance to discuss my background with you, even though I may not possess relevant qualifications for this position.

Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to possibly hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,
